Proposal Practice 1

Pizza

- Many students face phone issues like cracked screens, battery problems or software glitches.
- off campus repair shops are far, inconvenient, expensive
- Students often delay repairs due to time, cost & lack of trusted service providers.

→ tight budget (students prioritize academic expenses over repairs).

→ limited awareness of QuickFix among students

→ Inconvenient location of current QuickFix outlet (off-campus)

→ high-repair costs from competitors discourages students from fixing their phones.

→ Students rely heavily on their phones for study and communication, delay in repair affects productivity.

→ if repairs are affordable & convenient, students are more likely to fix their phones.

- On-campus events are effective marketing tools to reach student directly.

→ organize an on-campus discounted repair event.

→ offer up to 30-50% discounts for students.

→ promote event via flyers & online campaigns.

→ collect feedback.
